

Call for Participation

In the last decades, non-binary gender identities have become a vital topic in social and political discourses. Especially (pop)cultural representations have contributed to challenging the construction of gender and reaching a wider public. But while trans-/gender and queer theoretical approaches have become a (niche but growing) staple of most social sciences and humanities, queries specific to non-binary gender identities are still rather rare.

Religious Studies, Study of Religion(s) and Theologies have participated in these recent turns to gender and queer theory and in regarding gender and religion as epistemic, intersectional research categories. In order to get together and discuss these research approaches focusing on non-binary genders, the next conference organized by AK Gender und Religion \(DVRW\) will be held in the summer of 2024 in Frankfurt, Hesse (Germany) under the title

Religion beyond Binary

Religious Studies, Study of Religion(s), and non-binary Genders.

Methodologies, Approaches, and Perspectives.

Friday Evening:

Keynote: Melissa M. Wilcox

Afterwards: Reception / Get-Together

Short Lectures

- 30 min
- perfect for presenting cohesive thoughts, methodical reflections, research results etc.

Saturday:

Panel 1: Short Lectures

Coffee Break

Panel 2: Project Presentations

Lunch

Panel 3: Short Lectures

Coffee Break

Panel 4: Project Presentations

Project Presentations

- 10 min
- perfect for presenting new research ideas (e. g. PhD projects), open questions etc.

We invite all researchers in the field of religion (study of religions, religious studies, theologies etc.) to participate with a short lecture or a project presentation!

Deadline for proposals: 31.03.23

For further information please contact Paula Kautzmann (she/her; paula.kautzmann@evtheologie.uni-giessen.de) or Christiane Nagel (she/her; christiane.nagel@uni-marburg.de).